Hawkins Construction expands into larger offices in South Florida

BOCA RATON -- Hawkins Construction, Inc. is proud to announce its move to larger offices in South Florida. The company's corporate headquarters is located in Tarpon Springs, Florida, since 1975.

Long time industry veteran, Dale E. Scott CDP, CRX, joined Hawkins in April 2013, and opened an operations center office in Boca Raton to better serve the firms South Florida customers. John McCaughterty, Hawkins President, reported that due to the tremendous success in obtaining new construction contracts over the past year, the company has expanded office space in the 7777 Glades Road building in Boca Raton.

Scott stated the company currently has 29 new projects under construction out of the South Florida office, and the company anticipates continued growth in the foreseeable future. Hawkins has always had work in South Florida, although the company never had an actual office presence here till this past year, he added.

"With the outstanding reputation Hawkins has enjoyed for many years, the opening of a fully staffed office in this market has played a big role in contributing to the immediate success and growth the South Florida office has experienced," Scott said.

Hawkins was founded in 1975 and has grown to become a leading general contracting firm, being ranked each year in the top 10 retail contractors nationally. Although generally recognized in the retail segment of the industry, Hawkins has a very diversified portfolio of successfully completed projects ranging from medical, religious, office, senior housing etc.
